

THE MYSTERIOUS LAND

Against the dark mountain path a figure rode on his trusty horse. First he journeyed through the gloomy darkness and found himself trotting on a cliff beside a deep river. Between these ginormous rocks he found himself inside a dark Temple with mysterious carvings. Inside the temple and from an angle he could see a bright light up ahead... so he walked ahead and the bright light blinded him.

There, in front of him, was an extremely long bridge. It was so high he thought he could touch the sky. At the end of the long bridge was a tall castle, it was beautiful. After 3 months of traveling he had finally arrived at the hidden lands near the edge of the world.

Finally he entered the castle, the heavy stone door opened slowly opened and his horse trotted down the stairs. Suddenly the door slammed shut it went pitch black.

After he entered the castle there was a spiral staircase that was very long. Then he passed a pool of boiling water and he saw statues of strange creatures. Then up ahead he saw a bright light then he took a girl off his horse and laid her down on the edge of the platform and her brown hair swayed in the wind. She was beautiful. The wonderer had travelled across the world to save her.

After putting the girl on the edge of the stone he noticed that her hair shone in the sun, then he pulled off the blanket. He had come to this mysterious land, to bring back his love that had been cursed by the Goblin of death. Then suddenly Mystic Ghosts started rising from the floor, the figure named, Gooblia, got out his sword of souls and started waving it around. The sword started to glow in the sunlight.

Then out of no-where a voice came out of the top of the castle and started saying "I will bring your love back to life if you rein 2 of my statues." Then suddenly the blanket blue in the air and then it vanished. Then he said "Raise the sword to the light and that will show you what way to go."

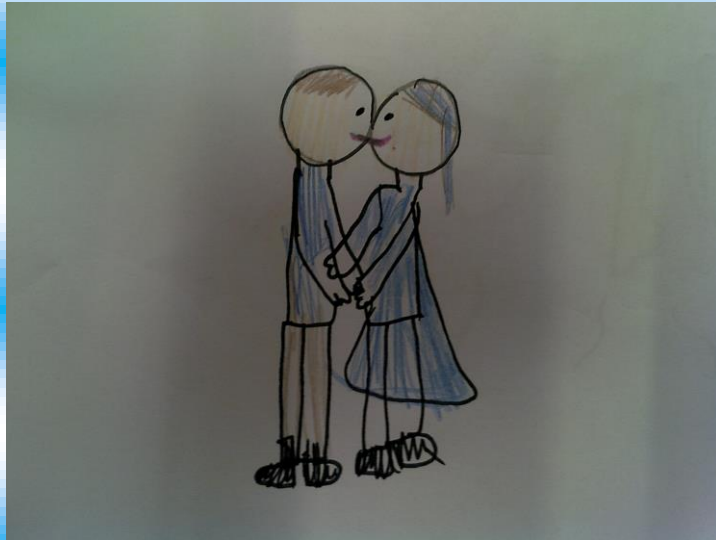

So he ran to his horse and started galloping then they ran out the tower. Then he held up his sword and the light led him straight ahead. He came to a dead end, then he started to climb the rocks and the vines then he got to the top and...

He got to the top of the cave and he took a gasp the beast was gigantic he was probably 5000 times as big as him. Then he held up his magical sword and the light reflected on his tiny pea head, because that's the weakest part of his body. So he ran slowly behind the humongous beast then smoke started blowing in his face because the ground was breaking dew to Soola was so heavy so then he started climbing up his leg then he stabbed him in the back of his smelly, hairy knee then the monster started to slow down then Gooblia climbed up his hip and up his shoulder, the creatures head was beaming with light so Gooblia grabbed his sword, lifted it in the air and stabbed him with all his might.

The creature fell to the ground, screamed in pain and made a loud bang as it landed on the floor.

Then he ran back to the castle and his love was shaking then he picked her up and kissed her on the lips then her eyes opened then she gave him a really big hug. Gooblia was thrilled he was so glad he came to this land and this saying was really true and this happily together.

THE END
