

By Thomas Roberts

The Mysterious land

While the lone stranger was trotting past the dark gloomy mountains a beautiful feathered eagle swooped past. Admiring his heroic strange face. His face had soft swaying jet brown hair and his eyes where as beautiful as a sapphire. He kept on riding on his horse for hours and hours and came across an ancient columned building. Suddenly he started to stare at the blinding beam of light and followed it.

His eyes slowly adjusted and saw a magnificent, carved and narrow bridge and the cliffs on the side of the bridge that was sent high in the air. At the end of the bridge there was a tall building like structure. Birds started to circle around the structure keeping aneye for intruders, as he got a bit closer and the antic cracked stone door opened up.

Suddenly the horse whinnied to say that he was scared but the lone person kicked the side of the horse and started to trot in and the door made a cracking and after 3 seconds. The door closed and they were in total darkness. When he got in there he looked up and there was a domed roof and he looked down and saw a spiral staircase with spikes on the staircase he whipped the horse and it galloped down when he got down there was a deep circle water he ignored it and trotted down the long hall beside him there were loads of statues of creatures but that did not distract him he kept on plodding on until he came up to a big hole on the wall. He jumped and picked up the sack and carried to the hole in the wall and put the sack on the hole and took a deep breath and whipped it away and it turned out to be a woman with a long glimmering white dress and silk blonde hair.

A decorative border of green pine trees with brown trunks runs along the top, left, and right edges of the page. The trees are arranged in a slightly irregular line, creating a festive, winter-like frame.

The reason on why Charlie came here because he had heard of a legend of a forbidden land. For those who had entered had died for touching the death ghouls and if they succeeded they would bring back their true loves up from the dead. So he would find out if it was true or not.

Suddenly black smoky puck figures emerged from the ground. So he got out his sword and pointed it at the enemy. In shock a big blast of wind emerged from the sword and shot the smoky puck figures and disappeared into thin air.

Startled a voice bellowed out. "Who comes to this forbidden land?"

"Edwards Charlie Edwards" spoke Charlie.

“Why are you here” Boomed the voice.

“I am here to reclaim my bride” spoke the lone stranger.

“If you want to reclaim your bride then you will have to kill the galaxy most dangerous beast called colossus”

The hero got on his horse and galloped out of the castle. While he was galloping he pulled out his sword and galloped the same way it was showing him. As he got closer he started to see the front wall of the castle poking out of behind the hill. When he got around the hill he started to see what appeared to be a human standing on the ramparts of the castle. When he got to the castle the horse galloped up the stairs and the lone stranger got off the horse and parkoured up the castle. When he got to the top. He ran across the grass.

Commented [TR1]:

Commented [TR2R1]:

Commented [TR3R1]:

Commented [TR4R1]:

Suddenly he started to hear loud ground breaking footsteps around the corner. When he got around the corner he saw colossus. He had great big bulky armed long furred beast in amazement Charlie ran towards the beast and got out his sword and light came out of the sword and burnt his head hairs so it left a symbol so he knew on where to stab the monster. He ran towards the monster knowing that he had dirt in his eyes not hesitating. He jumped on the monsters leg and stabbed it in the back of its knee so it knelt down. And after 10 minutes he got to its symbol on its head and stabbed it and a load of black blood came out of it and it fell to the ground and the hero jumped of and suddenly his sole came out and went in to the hero and he fanted.

