

The Mysterious Land

He was on a dangerous quest through cursed land, magical meadows and weird woods. His blonde hair swished through the wind as the crystal clear sea splashed on the shadowy rocks on the cliffs bellow him.

Ones he got through everything he found a glowing white light. He was delighted to be hear in the magic kingdom he silently walked through the magical temple it felt like the walls were closing on to him.

Finally he was where his dreams would maybe coming true. But before he could go envy father, he was terrible blinded by the glowing light all he could see bridge appearing in front of him. His horse, riff, trotted on across the rib cage bribe then he came to a stone door surrounded by eagles. Then suddenly the door opened and the horse wimped and the rib kicked the horse and the horse carried on. The horse walked to the steps leading down to the dark isles of the palace.

As he walked down he came to a dome he slowly approached the light that looked like a gigantic rib-cage. At the end there was a gigantic door waiting for him and it felt like the door was alive because it sut behind. They was scared but they wanted stop he need to rescue the girl but he couldn't see anything but he went on.

The wonder reached the bottom of a gigantic mounting. The top was a giant castle but he couldn't reach it because there were lots of holes on the ground. The wanderer jumped in the ear and grabbed on and stated clime

He was at the top he ran and jumped on to the beast and stabbed him in the back of the leg and cared on claiming he got to the top and vilely he stabbed the beast in the head an all the power went in to him and he got knocked out. And retard and pout the sole in his sister hart and she was back.

The end